

In Appreciation

Dear Mr. Girard:

Today we leave Girard College, our home and school for the past ten years. With sadness as we pass from Chapel for our last time as students, we graduate to a higher level of life. It is now time to give you thanks, Mr. Girard, for the many benefits we have received because of your benevolence. We realize that our words can never express adequately our appreciation for all that you have made possible for us.

We know that we will be confronted with many perplexing problems in the outside world. However, thanks to you, we have been trained to face these problems with determination and to overcome them. You have made an excellent education possible for us and have prepared us well to take our place in life.

We thank you also, Mr. Girard, for giving us this chance to gain that wonderful possession in life, friendship. Here at Girard our friends are of many nationalities and religions, but there is no prejudice among us. We have learned to live together and to work together completely and wholeheartedly, something that many people are trying to do.

The memory of you, Mr. Girard, and your wonderful school will be with us forever. The great debt we owe you can never be fully repaid. You have helped thousands of boys and we are of them. We shall strive to live good lives, remembering your profound words:

"My deeds must be my life.

When I am dead, my actions must speak for me."

The Class of 1964 wishes to express sincere appreciation to Mr. M. Arnold Daffin and Mr. Caswell E. MacGregor, our advisors, who unselfishly and cheerfully devoted their valuable time to insure that our Corinthian would reveal the true image of Girard and continually fill our minds and cherished memories of eleven years.

The Class of 1964 Takes Great Pleasure in Dedicating This Corinthian to:

MR. JOHN D. MYERS

MR. JOHN C. DONECKER

THE DEEP INTEREST IN OUR CLASS SHOWN BY MR. JOHN D. MYERS AND MR. JOHN C. DONECKER HAS CREATED AMONG US A WARM AFFECTION. THEIR CHEERFUL FRIENDLINESS AND SINCERE FAITH IN OUR ABILITIES WILL REMAIN A HAPPY MEMORY FOR US ALL.

On His Retirement

James Barrie has said that memory is given to us that we may have roses in December.

MR. H. EMORY WAGNER

Mr. H. Emory Wagner as a teacher of Hummers for thirty-nine years has been an optimist rather than a defeatist; he has believed in the capacity of his boys to do good work and be good people. It is in the aura of this belief that generations of Hummers have sat under him in his classes—and we fortunately are among them. He is one of a group of great teachers who for more than a century have nourished the strength of Girard.

We shall in time find that he has given us our roses in December.

Letter from the Principal

MR. CASWELL E. MACGREGOR

Dear Class of 1964:

You are leaving your school to move out into a world where the answers to what is right and good and enduring are distorted by the emotions erupting from the almost universal struggle for recognition racially, economically, and socially. The threat to your future lies in being a half believer. There is nothing more hopeless than being half sure.

As individuals who believe in Democracy and Christianity you must, if your lives are to be significant and satisfying, base your judgments on the fundamental principles of human conduct by which men determine what is good and what is evil. You must share strong convictions and abide by them, for no man can serve two masters. Again and again you will be tempted to play safe and straddle the difficult issues. It is our hope that your years at Girard have developed in you the intelligence and the courage to say, "This I do believe; this I will live by at any cost."

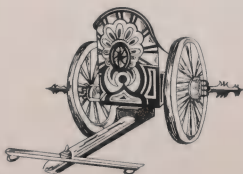

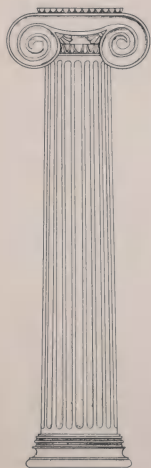

To the extent that you adhere to these principles will you lead competent and honorable lives. To the extent you ignore these beliefs will you lose your honor.

We shall miss you. We shall pray that you go forth to make the good name of Girard better by your actions and accomplishments.

Sincerely,

Caswell E. MacGregor

The editors and staff of this Corinthian have created a year book which they hope will in future years bring back to each of us the memories of our years together and particularly our final year in Allen Hall.

We have humbly dedicated our book to Mr. John C. Donecker and to Mr. John D. Myers, both of whom have devoted their lives to the well-being and education of Girardians. We shall always remember them.

Our advisor Mr. Caswell E. MacGregor has exerted the constant pressure which has kept our work in motion. Mr. Arnold Daffin and his students in the Print Shop have been tireless in setting up copy and working with us. To both these men we express our thanks for all they have done.

The staff has been conscientious and cooperative. William Casey and Joseph Marcino have served as photographers. Our writers were Carl Davies, Guy Anhorn, John Gale, Charles Try, Raymond Starzmann, and Richard Murray. The lettering was done by Noel Perry. Richard Powers, Joel Dempsey, Ronald Smeltzer, and Louis Cocco, our printers and layout men, have done an excellent job in their department. Ed Kimmel and David Buys have faithfully done the legwork in dealing with the photo-engravers.

In brief this publication, the cooperative result of the efforts of many people is evidence of a job well done. We hope you enjoy it.

Girard has armed you well, my friends,
 For the fight beyond the gates.
 Depart, and let us stand as men
 Who'll grapple with the Fates.

This year heralded the birth of a new club here at Girard, the Girard College Conservation Club. It was founded through the efforts of two boys, John S. Gale and Charles E. Try. These two boys set out and laid the groundwork by drawing up a constitution and obtaining a room for the club headquarters.

The club they designed enabled boys who are sincerely interested in conservation to meet and discuss this activity, and thus foster its growth. It also initiated a big step towards a better appreciation of the Girard campus and of nature in general. This, along with the realization of conservation's utmost importance for the survival of our great nation, provided the foundation for the club.

Mr. Henry Mazaleski, the club's sponsor, provided the much-needed adult leadership for the organization. Another great help was Mr. George Dunkle, whose advice was invaluable. Without the assistance of these two men, the club would not have been able to make the remarkable progress that it did.

The club's membership is set at twenty. To become a member a boy must have a sincere interest in conservation before he is inducted. Some of the Senior members of this new club are Try, Gale, Brown, Dempsey, and Shiffer. It is the true interest of these boys which constitutes the roots of the Conservation Club.

Following a general study and discussion in all phases of conservation, the club endeavors to put its knowledge to work. This is done through worthwhile projects such as planting trees, producing cover for wildlife, and the identification of all the trees on the campus. By doing these projects, the club hopes to fulfill its motto of "Learning and application" and establish in the minds of its members, the need for conservation and its importance in our everyday lives.

As we assumed the responsibility of publishing The Girard News, we knew little of the demands that a high school newspaper imposes upon its staff. Reporting, rewriting, proofreading, editing, and typesetting, are but a few of the many processes involved in transforming the facts of news into a clear, concise article. Working diligently and consistently, however, the staff of The News met these challenges and produced a journal of accuracy and integrity.

Freedom of the press is a basic right inherent in our nation's democratic system of government. Utilizing this basic concept, The Girard News has strived to stimulate the thinking of its readers by offering a variety of provocative editorial comment. In reserving the editorial page for this type of thinking, The News has achieved its purpose of presenting the opinions and policies of the paper to the reading public.

An innovation this year was a new feature, College Corner, a column dealing with the various problems which confront Girardians seeking admission to college.

Responsible for the success of The News were Michael Rieg and Carl Davies, Co-editors. John Gale and Raymond Starzmann, Associate News Editors, capably assisted them. Sports Editor

Richard Powers' vivid, descriptive accounts of our sporting events added a touch of originality and vitality to our sports page. Ronald Smeltzer's accurate typesetting insured that The News went to press free of typographical errors. James Muscarella, Business Manager; Ronald Kohl, Distribution Manager; and Robert Miller, Photographer were all integral parts of the paper's success. Finally, we extend our special and sincere thanks to Mr. Arnold Daffin, our sponsor and printing adviser, for his sincere and conscientious efforts in guiding us in this activity.

This year, WGC-AM continued to be Girard's favorite radio program. By producing a show composed of world news, sporting and social events, and humor, head writer Rich Murray managed to brighten our dreary Monday morning feelings. Assisting him were John Gale, Noel Perry, Mike Murray, Jim Muscarella, Guy Anhorn, Marty deLivron, Carl Davies, and Bill Casey.

Some of the highlights of this year's shows were interviews with some of our top athletes, the Christmas and Washington trip shows, the Athlete of the Month award, and the Room of the Week. The show is made or broken by the announcers. Ably assisting head announcer, Jer Campisi, were Chryst, Thomas, Kolowitz, Gross, Powers, Schechtman, Miller, Starzmann, Pyle, Chryzanowski, Tornetta, Hamry, Yarbrough, Cocco, and Try.

The Talent Show, produced under WGC sponsorship, can truly be called the best in memory. Who of us can ever forget Action in the Afternoon, Sonth Side Story, Jackie Gleason, and The Third Fret? Praise and thanks for this great show go to the director, Guy Anhorn, whose talents were evident throughout the program.

The second semester saw the reappearance of WGC-FM on a new time spot. The goal of WGC-FM was to provide the student body with an enlightening introduction to "good" music. Under the capable direction of Stu Baxter, and the announcing of Carl Davies, the show did just that. While not all of the music played appealed to everyone, it was an interesting and valuable experience for both the producers and the audience.

Supporting and guiding this activity was Mr. Henry V. Andrews, many of whose proteges have moved on into professional radio work, and Mr. Charles T. Cunningham to whom all scripts were submitted.

Student Council

The Student Council of 1963-'64 symbolized Girard's conception of representative democracy in action. With this organization representing every level of the high school, student-body ideas were discussed and evaluated in weekly meetings. Worthwhile suggestions were forwarded to the administration for consideration.

Every student through his class representative may have his ideas presented to the Council for a hearing; and there were many. Council efforts resulted in greatly improved student support and attendance at school athletic contests. Meetings on the betterment of student-faculty relations held at Dr. Friedmann's home were originated in Council meetings and have brought about the confirmation of the organization of a student court in the near future.

Sponsored by Mr. Harold Holman, who worked hard to strengthen the organization, the Student Council had a nucleus of strong leaders. The officers were as follows: Stanley W. Werley, Student Body President; Sidney F. Gross, Vice-President; Raymond T. Starzmann, Recording Secretary; and Carl T. Davies, Corresponding Secretary.

The members of the Council have worked with the conviction that their efforts have been for an improved Girard. They have indeed made a worthwhile contribution to our school in an area where the ultimate results should result in a better life for all Girardians.

The purpose of this organization shall be to awaken enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire for rendering service, to promote leadership, and to develop character in the students of Girard College.

The National Honor Society offers a distinct challenge to each of its members, for they must strive conscientiously to uphold the standards and ideals of the Society. Induction into the National Honor Society marks the apex of a student's achievements at Girard. For this reason, the Society represents the best our school has to offer.

In the spring of our junior year, Michael Rieg, Joseph Kazimir, Richard Murray were inducted into the National Honor Society. During the fall term of our senior year three new members earned eligibility to the Society. The new inductees were David Thomas, Alan Buchta, and John Gale.

Richard Murray, Michael Rieg, and Joseph Kazimir served as President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer respectively. One of the high points of the year was the inspirational talk of Dr. Morris Wolf former head of the Social Studies department. It is the example and advice of such men that have given direction to the Society through the years.

The members of the National Honor Society have earned a fine record of accomplishment at Girard, and we hope they will continue to be guided by its ideals and standards into living rich and meaningful lives.

Dramatic Club

Third Row: P. Robinson, R. Starzmann, F. Shiffer, R. Miller, Mr. Andrews

The Dramatic Club opened its season at Christmas time with The Bishop's Candlesticks, a moving adaptation from Victor Hugo's Les Miserables. Although not a Christmas play, the heart-warming story of the kind bishop and the cold-blooded ex-convict, Jean Valjean, was indeed appropriate for the Christmas season. The club president, Charles Try, gave a stirring interpretation of a recently-released convict.

In the spring of 1964, the Dramatic Club, with its usual capability and organization, presented Stephen Vincent Benet's The Devil and Daniel Webster. Under the competent direction of Mr. Andrews, the suspenseful dramatization was enthusiastically received by a Girard audience. The delightful portrayal of the harried farmer's wife by Miss Edith Feld greatly added to the enjoyment of the play.

Those of us in the Dramatic Club will never forget the many details that must go into the producing of a play: the first auditions, the time and energy spent in rehearsals, and finally the thrill of the curtain rising for the actual performance.

The club would like to recognize the earnest leadership of the officers of the club for the past year. Charles Try, John Gale, Norris Pyle all exhibited drive and enthusiasm which contributed to its success.

The members of the Dramatic Club will never be able to express fully their thanks and appreciation to Mr. Henry V. Andrews. Without his unselfish devotion of time, energy, and talent, the Dramatic Club would have lost the inspiration that made it so deeply worthwhile. Only those who have struggled to create a worthwhile production can understand the value and satisfaction found in our Dramatic Club.

World Affairs

Third Row, R. Miller, G. Anhorn, N. Pyle, J. Gale, M. deLivron, S. Baxter

Once again Girard students were given the opportunity to gain a fuller understanding of the world by participating in the Philadelphia Chapter of the World Affairs Council. The efforts of Mr. H. Emory Wagner, head of Girard's Social Studies Department and sponsor of this group, were greatly appreciated.

Among the topics discussed at the forums were: The Vietnamese Situation; The Partial Test Ban Treaty; The Alliance For Progress; Movements Toward African Unity; and Tensions In The Middle East. Through their discussions, the Council members became better informed and more aware of the magnitude of the world problems which will affect their nation and their world and their lives.

Patterned after the United Nations in New York, the Council's Model United Nations provided an opportunity for members to examine the attitudes and viewpoints of various countries in the United Nations. In this model U.N., the Girard members, consisting of Chryst, Brown, Mroz, Muller, R. Murray, Pyle, Rieg, and Starzmann defended the policies of the strife-ridden Republic of the Congo and New Zealand.

During the year, the World Affairs Council sponsored two trips to the United Nations in New York. During their full-day tours the Girard members observed our world's major peace-promoting body at work. The students agree that this activity not only gave them a better understanding of world problems but also deepened their interest in other areas of study.

In a world rife with turbulence and distorted by constantly changing allegiances in the struggle for recognition and a better way of life, this activity is vital and valuable. The discussions and analyses of contemporary problems which we have enjoyed have been the beginning of our world citizenship.

Again we would like to thank Mr. Emory Wagner for sponsoring this organization which is a credit to Girard College.

With a wealth of experience behind them, the Imperials displayed their talent at our last Junior Dance with an impressive premiere performance. When the occasion arose for our first Senior Dance, our Swing Band again performed superbly.

Completely student organized and student supervised, the Swing Band has always reached a high level of esteem at Girard. As a result of long, grueling hours of practice, the Imperials increased their skill even more and attained a fine reputation.

Upon organizing, the Imperials set a goal which they have upheld—they were going to play the good, modern dance music. Soon new numbers were purchased, ranging from the melodic waltz Moon River to the snappy cha-cha Never on Sunday. These innovations were received with widespread acclaim by the students who enjoyed the "new sounds."

Two Swing Band Dances and two auditorium performances highlighted the Imperials' year. The Imperials were well represented in the 1964 Talent Show by Dmitri Merdiuszew, Noel Perry, Guy Anhorn, and Carl Davies whose rendition of Take Five delighted the audience.

Although the Imperials achieved most of their success on their own, they profited immensely by the necessary and welcomed guidance of Mr. Cunningham and Miss McGhee. To them we owe a sincere debt of gratitude for leading our Swing Band along the pathway to success. We can be proud of this musical organization.

Social Life

Urged on by the firm guidance of our Social Directress, Miss Miriam McGhee, our social education was thrust upon us during the sophomore year in the form of eight dancing lessons and the well remembered Coke Parties. With only the moral support of our numbers we ventured from the corners of the ballroom to a whole new social world at Girard.

Thanks to the work of our Sophomore Class president, Stanley Werley, and Miss McGhee, our class initiated the first evening dances for sophomores. Now an evening Sophomore Dance is a regular part of the social program.

Having made the initial leap, we returned to a colorful schedule of dances in the Junior year with assurance and anticipation. Attractive girls, melodious music, and the inevitable punch all blended to make our dances very enjoyable. In addition to the informal class and canteen dances, we also enjoyed the formal Cadet dances. These formal dances brought the new experience of shining brass, highly polished shoes, corsages, and, of course, empty wallets. The swirling gowns of our girls, the fine music, and the imposing Honor Guard were indeed a beautiful sight.

Our final year at Girard was pleasantly brightened by two more class dances, two canteen dances, and another Cadet dance. They were a welcome relief from the ceaseless routine of studies, activities, and many examinations that came with our Senior year. With the arrival of June came the never-to-be-forgotten formal Commencement Dance. We then realized that we would no longer enjoy the benefits of Girard's social program.

The Class of 1964 owes a great deal to Miss Miriam McGhee, and to our Hosts and Hostesses, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shirley, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holman. Their efforts made possible all the wonderful social events our class enjoyed during our last two years at Girard. We now thank them very sincerely for a job well done.

It seems impossible that the awkward boys struggling with the first dancing lessons are the same ones who gallantly escorted the lovely girls to the parties and dances of our final year. With the confidence and grace which comes only from the reality of experience we had found a whole new world of pleasure and meaning and we have enjoyed it.

In this year of 1963-64, the Student Center will have completed thirteen years of dedicated service to hungry "Hummers."

After five formative years in Founder's Hall, the Student Center was moved to the Lafayette Building. Now, it is once again operating in the familiar surroundings of Founder's Hall. The Student store has been a constant source of enjoyment and convenience for Girard boys.

Through the cooperative efforts of Mr. George Dunkle, the store's sponsor, and manager Wayne Koch, the present year has been profitable and prosperous. Capably working with them were Robert Miller, assistant manager; Joseph Marcino, bookkeeper; Norris Pyle, secretary; and Richard Muller, counter head.

Both Mothers' Days and Founder's Day have improved by contributions of the Student Center. Varsity "Rats", Girard plates and many other souvenirs continue to appeal to everyone interested in Girard. Innovations this year included the Senior Crew Hats and the new Center Lounge.

Most Girard Students do not realize that the money they spend at the Student Center is returned to them in the form of athletic equipment, social events, and many other extras enjoyed by Hummers. For these reasons, we are deeply indebted to Mr. George Dunkle, Wayne Koch, and the other members of the Student Center staff for the many pleasant hours their work has made possible.

Most school student centers are managed entirely by adults on a purely profit basis. Ours is run for and by students who have earned our appreciation.

Thank you for a job well done.

Photography Club

Under the direction of Mr. Perley Pease, the Photography Club has, as usual, been one of the most industrious activities on the campus. Their contribution to our school publications is real and invaluable. Without them, appeal to our readers would be academic. A look at your CORINTHIAN should make you grateful for all they have done. The Girard News, without their help, would be bare indeed. With their pictures, they will give added life to our memories when we look through our CORINTHIAN several years from now.

This year the senior members were Joseph Marcino, president; William Casey, Robert Miller, and Robert Costello.

As we offer to them our sincere thanks for a job well done, we wish that, with the new equipment, the younger members will continue to give Girard this valuable service.

Rifle Club

This year marks the tenth anniversary of the Girard College Rifle Club as an affiliate of the N.R.A. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Roy Glerum, the G.C. Rifle Club has made an active contribution to our Girard life.

The skills developed in the Club will give the members satisfaction and pleasure through many years. Recipients of the highest sharpshooting bar are Club president, Robert Miller; vice president, Guy Anhorn; and Senior Range Officer Charles Try. These representatives from the Senior Class are all contenders for the Expert medal, an award of considerable achievement. The elected officers of the club are Norris Pyle and John Galada, Secretary and Junior Range Officer respectfully.

Because of the absence of competitive style equipment, the riflemen did not enter the Postal Matches. Regardless of this, however, free competition and good shooting habits were developed.

STANLEY WILLARD WERLEY (STAN)

GENERAL I AND MACHINE SHOP

Student Council, Girard News, Corinthian, Soccer, Wrestling, Echelon, Cadet Major

Stan has proven his leadership in all aspects of our school life. He is a true friend, and we shall not forget him.

Dear Fellow Girardians,

We the class of 1964, will soon be leaving you, and are at this time more sensitively aware of the depth of our feelings toward our school. We leave behind us the ground where the roots of our future successes have been planted. We must leave the institution where we have passed from child to growing man. But, what is most difficult for us is leaving our friendships which we have nourished for the past ten years. These friendships have seen us through both trying and joyful moments. For these reasons, our hearts will warmly cherish those precious memories.

Here at Girard, we have had a great deal for which to be thankful. Besides being provided with all the material needs of life each year, we have had excellent instructors who have taught us the best ways to succeed in our chosen careers. Only because of the foresight of that one great man, who left his immense fortune for the establishment of Girard College, his living monument, are we his many-blessed foster sons.

We, the class of 1964, are proud of our accomplishments, but we are also aware of those things which we could have improved. As leaders of the school, we have tried to set the same example for you as Stephen Girard once set for us. It is now up to you, undergraduates, to take over where we are leaving off. Strive to uphold the standards of Girard and strengthen its good name. In doing so, you will have repaid only a small part of the debt which we all owe to our Alma Mater.

Our sincere thanks go to all of you who have helped make our stay at Girard as successful and pleasant as it has been. May God watch over you and whatever your future encounters will be.

Sincerely yours,

Stanley W. Werley

MICHAEL BISHOP RIEG (MIKE)

ACADEMIC AND CLERICAL

Student Council, National Honor Society, Co-editor, Girard News, Cornithion, Glee Club, World Affairs Council, Soccer, Baseball, Second Place, Herman C. Horn Essay Award, Color Guard, Echelon

Mike has spent untold hours striving to make our final year at Girard our most memorable. In this he has succeeded. We shall always remember Mike's devotion to the class.

Dear Classmates:

Today as we walk down the Chapel aisle for the last time, we begin to realize how much Girard means to us. For ten years it has been our home, where we have shared our joys and sorrows, our hopes and failures. As we depart, we say farewell to those good people who have helped and guided us through our early years and will eagerly follow our accomplishments in the years ahead. Never forget them. They have placed their faith in us, and we must never disappoint them.

We have been a proud and spirited class throughout our days at the "Hum." Now let us carry this enthusiasm with us, so that we may give our best in every effort, and thus be worthy of our school, our country, and ourselves.

Always remember our happy days and keep these memories strong and alive. It is difficult for all of us to leave the classmates we have known for so many years and walk into the world alone. Let us never forget each other. May we always remain as close to each other as we are on this our Graduation Day.

The tasks and responsibilities of life that lie ahead will be varied and demanding, but I have the sincere conviction that each of us will equal and surpass the high standards we have set for ourselves at the "Hum". Let me say thanks for the cooperation and help you've given me this year. The success of our senior year couldn't have been possible without the energy and "team effort" that you have displayed.

Let us resolve to help others as Stephen Girard has helped us. With determination and faith we shall surely lead lives of strength and accomplishment. May God bless and watch over you.

Sincerely yours,

Michael B. Rieg

Our class will never forget the third grade year. Most of us were just beginning our long stay at the Hum.

Such teachers as Miss Brown, Miss Wilson, Miss Whitacre, Miss Brosius, and the principal Mr. Nicholson, helped us to solve many of our problems at our early stage in life. On the other hand there were such men as Mr. Cooper and Mr. Hartman who developed us physically and morally by participating in sports.

We will never forget the basketball league. Remember the pride that we took in our teams' names: the Wildcats, the Tigers, the Eagles, the Hawks, the Badgers, the Wolverines and the "Lions", who achieved a record of 15-1.

We still talk about the final game when All-stars toppled the Lions in a spectacular contest on Robert "Specs" Telanoff's winning basket.

Allen Hall Life

Second Row: Mr. Valetta, Dr. Zeil, Dr. Lander

In the final year of our Girard life we have learned to live as citizens of a small community. For eight years we have come up the "road" from Junior School waiting to enter the new life of a Senior. Allen Hall is the reward of all our efforts.

As the year opened in September, we were excited about the privacy of a room and the companionship of our roommates. As the year continued, we enjoyed such privileges as the "no pass" and dating. Later, the long-awaited Washington Trip, College Boards, and Commencement concluded our life at Girard. These were only a few of the highlights that made our Senior year the best we have ever known.

Most of the success of our Senior year is due to the patient help and guidance of Dr. William F. Zeil, Dr. James D. White, Mr. and Mrs. Perley H. Pease, and Dr. John A. Lander. Without their help we could not have made this year successful.

Upon leaving Allen and Girard, we will take with us some of the fondest memories and best friendships we shall ever have. We will never forget them as long as we live.

Senior Highlights

The Senior year is the highlight of our life at Girard. A Girardian grows up with the light of the Senior's year to guide him. After ten years we have fulfilled our hopes; the dream has become a reality. Now, we are looking back on those wonderful days, crowded with memories, but far too brief.

We can still feel the pride we knew on our first day as Seniors, when we walked down the aisle as upperclassmen. Our final Christmas concert, the White Supper, the dramatic presentations, the Talent Show, soccer, wrestling meets, baseball, our dances, and the Imperials; college boards, term papers, study hours and Hallowe'en all meant so much to us because every one of us was part of them.

Perhaps our Washington trip will provide our most enduring memory. It brought us an awareness of class spirit unequalled. It was a Senior highlight given to us as a gift from previous Girardians.

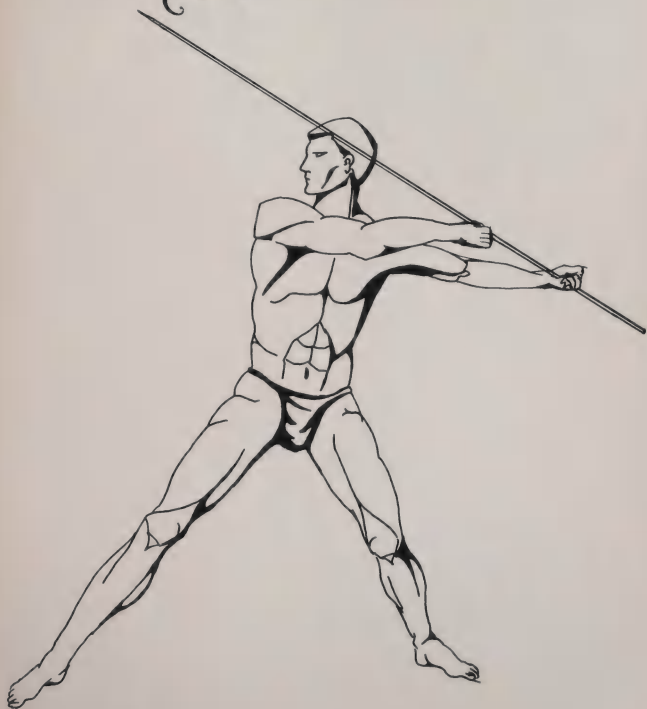

We are, of course, sorry to give up our rooms, to leave our friends, our teachers, the classes, and all that made this Hum life meaningful and good. Suddenly we comprehend how much everyone has done to develop our minds and characters for life after Graduation.

We know now that what we have done and will do will symbolize the accomplishments of a Girard education. As Seniors, we have set the standards in athletics, in social events, in scholarship, and in school life in general. With graduation upon us, we are deeply conscious of the fact that we could have done even more and better than we did. We leave it to the next senior class to carry on where we left off.

Farewell! Farewell!
Dear temple on the hill;
We'll not forget you
Till our hearts be still.

Coming into the season with six returning lettermen, this year's soccer team hoped to have a winning record. Although this hope was not fulfilled, the team's showing of six wins, eight losses, and one tie is a considerable improvement upon last year's two wins and eleven losses.

Despite this unimpressive record, the team played hard and well throughout the season. Every player worked diligently during each practice session trying to improve his individual skills. As a result, the team improved steadily as the season progressed.

Highlights during this losing season were the close 1-0 loss to North Catholic and the thrilling victory over the University of Pennsylvania Freshmen. The loss to North Catholic, a team which later won the Catholic League championships, was a heartbreaker. The booters just missed on two scoring opportunities that would have won the game. Against the strong-favored U. of P. Freshmen, the booters definitely played their best game. With typical Hum spirit and drive, the booters came from a 1-0 deficit and went on to win, 3-2.

This year's Cross Country squad worked very hard to better last year's two and two record. Unfortunately, the team's hopes did not materialize, and they were forced to settle for a one and three season.

A lack of depth held the team back. This, however, did not prevent those dedicated members from giving all they had for the sake of the team. Sometimes the weather conditions were very adverse to running, but this did not stop the harriers from going through their workouts of quarter-miles, half-miles, miles, and overdistance which ranged from six to ten miles. The difficulty of the workouts merely emphasized the fact that every member of the team had the drive that distinguishes the true athlete from the mere participant.

Highlights of the season included an eleven team invitational meet for which the team traveled to George School, and a fifty-five to fifteen score against Friends Select. The most exciting event of the season was Joe Kazimir's smashing of the old Hum record when he was clocked at 12:37 for the 2.5 mile course.

Coach Bruce Perazzelli must be commended for his fine efforts and willingness to work with the team.

This year's team, handicapped somewhat by last year's graduation, did a fine job with only four returning lettermen. It was upon these four, Mike and Rich Murray, Rick Powers, and Dan Jaycock, plus a strong junior varsity squad that the team was built. In view of the inexperience and a lack of depth the team's 7-5-1 record was commendable.

Fine individual seasonal performances were turned in by Bob Dever 12-1, Mike Murray 12-1, Rich Murray 11-2, Rick Powers 7-2, Rich Beck 8-3, and Marty deLivron 7-4.

Highlights of the season were the 26-25 victory over Wyoming Seminary, the 26-24 win over Perkiomen, and the 47-3 landslide victory over P.S.D. The team closed the season at Episcopal Tournament, taking a team fourth place against heavy competition. Individual second places were captured by Rich Beck and Mike Murray, a third by Bob Dever, and a fourth by Rich Murray.

The backbone of the team during the 1963-64 season was the consistent winning from the "live five." These five members Bob Dever (95), Mike Murray (103), Rich Murray (112), Rick Powers (120), and Rich Beck (127), compiled an amazing combined record of 50 wins, while only losing 9. This year's team proudly possessed one of the most solid lower-weight lineups in the brief history of wrestling at Girard.

These weren't the only stars on the team, because it takes more than five to win a meet. Martin deLivron was a consistent winner. Stan Werley, Hugh Graham, Tom Kolowitz, and Dan Jaycock won their share at times when it was most needed to win or secure a victory.

Thanks go to Coaches Sabol and Wolstenholme whose untiring efforts and patience developed this fine team.

Although the 1964 basketball team had six returning letter men, their final record did not live up to expectations. The team, however, played well and worked hard throughout the season.

This year Coach Downham introduced a new type of game to Girard. The new strategy, called "our game", involved a freeze-type offense and a tight zone defense. The team endeavored to stay within reach of its tough opponents by freezing the ball and working for one good shot. A lack of rebounding ability made this a very necessary point.

The highlight of the season was our hard-fought upset victory over Valley Forge Military Academy. Captain Joel Dempsey played an outstanding game. He scored 23 points and won the game for the Hum when, with three seconds left to play, and the Hum one point behind, he sank a 25-foot shot. Joel Dempsey was high scorer for the season with starters Rich Muller, Bob Walker, and Chick Chryst contributing to the team effort their shooting and ball handling skills.

A word of sincere thanks must be given to our fine coach, Mr. Charles Downham. He created in the team an intense desire to keep fighting no matter how lopsided the score was. His never-say-die attitude encouraged us to try harder every time our spirits were low.

If a team is as good as its spirit then the record of these hoopsters doubly emphasizes that this was one of the best teams of the year, best because they never once accepted the fact that they could lose. The fought to the final whistle.

The '63-'64 swimming team, under the determined leadership of Co-captains Ray Meresse and Chuck Perry, lost twelve of the fourteen meets, winning over Germantown Academy and earning a tie with Delhaas High School. Never once, however, did they give up.

Although a few members of the team might have broken records, this desire had to be sacrificed in order to give greater strength to the team effort. Those able to break records were a sophomore, Doug Burleigh, who broke the 400-yard freestyle record with a 4:21, clocking over the old record of 4:31; and Al Yarbrough, who smashed the 100-yard butterfly by 3 seconds with the winning time of 1:05.7.

The top scorers for this year were Al Yarbrough and Co-captain Ray Meresse who earned 88 and 80 points respectively.

This year's team was hampered by the same old plague, lack of depth. To overcome this with next year's swimmers Coach Gibson has devoted much time and interest in developing the talents of the younger competitors. On them rest the hope that during the next two of three years Girard's natators will be once again rated among the best in the Philadelphia area.

The Fencing Team, under the leadership of Captain Wayne Koch and Co-captain Dmitri Meriuszew lost only one meet this season.

They suffered their first loss in two years when a strong University of Pennsylvania squad beat them 19-8. Co-captain Merduszew, lost his first bout of the season at this meet. William Casey, the other senior member of the team, won two of his three bouts to lead the epee squad and give the team two of their eight points.

At Northeast High School the team nearly lost another meet; however, Paul Ferry the only junior on the team, won his final bout to give Girard an 11-10 win.

This year the team again failed to bring the Yale Trophy back to Girard. Ferry finished fourth in foil, and Koch placed fifth in epee. Merduszew tied for first in sabre, but in the fence-off, he lost to his opponent and placed second. In final tabulation Girard took fourth position in the tournament.

The team will only be losing three senior members, Dmitri Merduszew, Wayne Koch and Bill Casey. With many good young prospects coming up from the lower classes fencing will continue to be one of Girard's top sports. We hope that next year's squad will be able to bring home the Yale Trophy once again.

Coach Rothberg's fencing team has earned an honored place in Girard sports over the years through constant and diligent practice. We are indebted to Mr. Rothberg, who has taught us the basic fundamentals and the finer points of swordplay, and who has devotedly made us work for our victories.

This year's baseball team, with seven returning lettermen, is one of the most experienced teams in recent years. The starting team consists of Beck catching, Fenstermacher playing first base, Chryst playing at second, Holod covering shortstop, and deLivron playing at the hot corner; in the outfield are Van Buskirk, Petrick, and Thomas. The pitchers are Gill, Kolowitz, and McCullough. To date the record has not lived up to expectations.

The team lost their opener to a strong Episcopal team, but came back to trounce Germantown Friends in their second game by a decisive 6-2 score. However, because of erratic play, they then lost to Valley Forge Military Academy and Williamson Trade School, two of their toughest competitors. With these two tough teams behind them, the batsmen hope to win their remaining games and have a winning season.

The area of strength has been the fielding. As we go to press, the infield has racked up four double plays. Weak hitting has been the source of the defeats in the initial games. With their solid team spirit, the players expect to begin getting the hits and registering victories in the remaining games.

January and February ushered in the preliminary practice for the cindermen whose potential strength centered around eight returning lettermen. The pounding footfalls on the Armory balcony, the clanking of weights, the coaches ever present "Pump those arms" were background for their hopes. Then came spring and the long afternoons of sweating and sprinting and jumping and the first all-out effort.

The first meet brought them up against a strong Episcopal Academy team, and they lost 70 to 29. Against Perkiomen they were on the top side of 52-47 tally. Confronted by Frankford High they again suffered under a 70-17 loss. Undaunted and under captain John Gale and Bob Hamry and the capable coaching of Mr. Bruce Perazzelli they still gave their best efforts and gained momentum. Everyone is to be commended for refusing to give up.

Highlight of the season was capturing a second in the mile relay at the Penn Relays. Jim Campion, Bob Hamry, Al Yarbrough, and Charlie Walker took second place at the Penn Relays in the Prep School Mile Relay. This was the first time any medals have been won by Hummers since 1918, in this meet.
